Loving messages and your own pictures combine in this unique book to create special closeness with your child

Child of Mine, Know This introduces an innovative concept in children's books, combining a special heartfelt message with the reader's photos to help parents remind their children how and why they love them.

Child of Mine, know this —

*You are not a child
In the eyes of the universe,
In the arms of God,
In the heart of All That Is.*

You are a brilliant light that has been shining since the beginning of time.

You are a wise and ancient soul who has come to this earth yet another time to shine your light on all humanity.

Rebecca Whitecotton has created a whole new concept in children's books with an inspirational message that parents can deliver in a uniquely personalized way with pictures of their own children and family. The esteem-building power of this concept is immense when a child recognizes his or her own face in a book filled with love and blessings.

This beautiful book communicates that your children's spirits are thousands of years old and wiser than anyone can imagine. Whitecotton's prose is a warm and earnest reminder that the bond between parent and child was created over the course of many lifetimes, and the promises made between people ensure that we are loved throughout the journey of life.

The author believes that when parents and children are able to see each other through spiritual eyes, they can look past the illusion of separateness and enter into the unconditional love of oneness with Spirit.

This color glossy 32-page book is specially designed with the option to turn it into a unique and totally personalized present from parent to child. Your own standard color or black and white photos (5x7, 4x6, 3.5x5 and 2x3) can be taped on any or every page over the printed pictures using double-sided tape. The result is a highly individualized gift book with a spiritual message that will have more personal meaning and value than any other gift you can buy or create as easily.
